

The Emissary of Light Handbook

First Chapter

Brought forth from Mary Magdalene

Through connection with Flo Aeveia Magdalena

“Before my incarnation as the Magdalene the light I carried was shared by many that you would consider to be the brightest lights of all consciousness. The brightest lights of all consciousness have no form and each of you has come from those lights. There is no difference between you and me. The understanding that you want to have about this is that the brightest of lights did not have form. They were not matter and they danced as if the light was life. They created order in this universe through the frames of light that they danced into being. Those frames of light have begun to dissipate, to become more activated in recent years, to allow that form as light to be embodied and embraced by more human individuals to support the transcendence of the earth into light herself.”

Flo Magdalena: Introduction

So let's take a moment to organize our energies together. The first thing that comes to mind when I speak about Magdalene is the deep connection that she carries to this lineage of the Divine Feminine and also that her consciousness carries light. I consider her to be the Emissary of Light. Before we invite her here and I say a few words about myself, let's invite the light in whatever way we individually do that, so that we can feel our own alignment with the light of our own sourcing in this space. Let's imagine that we are filling up all these little gaps between us and actually creating a container. This is because this evening my intention, my aspiration is to have such a safe container that we are all able to feel ourselves as Emissaries of Light. We are reawakening that part of ourselves, aligning with the Magdalene and moving our individual energies into the world in a way that is being called for, that is necessary and that is, in a very real sense, why we have come here in the first place.

So let's take a few moments. When I do this process I put my right hand on my heart and my left hand on my right hand. I just sit and focus on my heart and then immediately I experience light there in the center of my body. If we gather together this light and strengthen it through our intention, together we create a wave, a ripple of alignment with everything that is.

Feeling this wave, this ripple, together, feel yourself being carried away from your mind, away from the thoughts of who I am and how I look and how the space is and what it was like getting here and what you're carrying. Just letting that all go and choosing to be in the purity of your own awareness. Listening from that place, creating order together in this space then makes it safe for us to go deeper, reach further and begin to recognize each other as part of our light family through the intention that we share to hold the light no matter what.

So I want to tell you a little bit about my connection to Mary Magdalene because people keep asking me to do that and I am kind of shy about it. I don't think it is important, in a sense, but I will do it anyway just to create a foundation here with all of us.

At the harmonic convergence, a couple of days before the harmonic convergence, I bartered a session with a fellow named Piet Vanderhorst. He read for me and he said, You were one of the disciples. You were the female disciple that followed Christ everywhere.” My response to him was, “I must have been the whore,” because I was brought up protestant, Presbyterian. That is what we were taught about Mary Magdalene. She was a prostitute and she had seven devils that were released from her and she had to be penitent and scrambling to be at his hem of his garment.

Then a couple years later I was down in DC and I had a very strong sense of going back to a Presbyterian church and I had an experience there that changed my life and that initiated the writing of I Remember Union. It was Christ that introduced me to Mary in that experience and for three years I wrote about her. But it is interesting. I only channeled two chapters in the book because the rest of it I remembered.

I didn't remember it as the only Magdalene. I remembered it as a stream of the Magdalene. My hunch is that many of us in this room, if not all of us, carry the stream of Magdalene. It doesn't mean that we have a conscious understanding of it. It means more that we are gathering our resources and energy to support the earth, to support all peoples, and to live in honor and respect of all life. That's really what that lineage is about and that's what the avatars of all time, in that stream, carry as well.

When I was thinking of how I was going to provide an experience of Magdalene for all of us, what I really heard was that she wanted to reawaken each of us to be in the lineage of her Emissary of Lightness so that we could leave here carrying the light in a stronger way. We could identify ourselves as points of awareness that contain that light, and our light would be brighter and also that we would be more confident in shining it. The way that came about, in a sense, was through a process called anointing. She has asked me to anoint each of us into this Emissary of Lightness, specifically, reawakening in us and not starting it. It's not that you don't have it. It's to actually galvanize it, in a sense, to catalyze it.

The result of that, from what I understand, is that we will be more present in our bodies and life, more clear about our direction, and more able to make choices and decisions that reflect the sacred in a moment-to-moment way, no matter what is going on around us. I teach a lot about the environment that we create by having light within us that is bright. My understanding is that we have a soul seed that is located right here where the xiphoid process is. It is at the base of the sternum and the ribs come together there. The soul seed is right underneath that little point. If you remember in your biology class when you saw the skeleton, at the base of the sternum there is a point, and right underneath there Mary Magdalene says we have a soul seed. That is what she and Christ worked with to do healing work with individuals in that time.

Opening the soul seed is something that we do in Soul Recognition. It is something that we do in many of our processes and it is something that will happen tonight because I will anoint you in that place. I will anoint you in your third eye at the same time and we will have this alignment carrying through all of our bodies, all of our energies and the space. Then what happens, as we activate the soul seed, is that there is a spiral of concentric energy that starts to build inside and it's a beautiful rippling out from the center, a concentric clockwise circle. That basically creates an environment around you, me, us that speaks louder than words, that has an energy of being appointed, in a sense, to hold a stronger space than discord and to be so congruent that those around us become harmonious, as well. This is a really important understanding to carry.

The other amazing thing that she would like to do this evening is talk about origin, talk about our origin as light, and in a sense, the beginning-less beginning—the space of how we began. This is so that we can take that understanding about origin and align it with our present light, bring that light into a larger reflection and then share it out in the environment. This is so that we actually carry it in a stronger way.

If that is okay with everyone, I will just begin with her message to us.

I have a friend named Roslyn McGrath, and she lives in Michigan on one of those big lakes. She wrote a book called The Third Mary, which is about the mother of Mary Magdalene. Then she just wrote a book recently that has a title that is about the family of Christ, or something like that. When I was reading her book, I am going to do a testimonial for it, I actually felt like one of the most important things about the book was that Judas, Martha, Jesus, and Mary's children, which I can tell you about if you choose to hear that, all spoke in the book.

What was amazing for me was the fact that if I hear Magdalene or I hear Christ or I listen to channels of them from other people than myself, there is a certain vibration to that that seems otherworldly to me. You know, it's a little bit, like up there. With Martha and Judas and other individuals in that holy family it felt like they could talk to me from where they were and it really made sense, it really made a difference. They have all agreed to come tonight to hold this space with us. As we do the anointing if there are any individuals in that family or any connections that you have or any ways in which you would like to respond to energies that are a part of the intricate matrix of that story, that will be available as well, so that is something I wanted to be sure to say.

Message from Mary Magdalene

This Is Light

Before there were mountains, there was light. Before there was the sky, there was light. Before all that you have experienced here there was light and the light danced and opened and responded to the source of its own light, the origin of all being. Each of you carries this light through the breath and through the intention to activate that breath as light. That creates a circle so that your intention and your breath and light become one sphere.

So right in front of you imagine a light; a bright beautiful candle, beacon, flame, whatever. And that light now comes straight into your heart and you breathe the light into your being, into your heart. Then your breath goes behind you and there is another flame going and you breathe that light into your body and that breath goes back and forth like a pendulum. In front of you is the light. The light comes into the body. It goes behind you and it comes back into the body and all the time the light and the breath is constant.

Each of you carries an awareness of light that I have also carried throughout all the times and all of the ways and all of the trials. Our light is our most constant connection to the divine and to the earth, which is the same. This evening our opportunity together is to share the magnificence of our own light so that that above energy of creation and origin opens again in matter through us, and the constancy with which we intend to embrace it.

Before my incarnation as the Magdalene the light I carried was shared by many that you would consider to be the brightest lights of all consciousness. The brightest lights of all consciousness have no form and each of you has come from those lights. There is no difference between you and me. The understanding that you want to have about this is that the brightest of lights did not have form. They were not matter and they danced as if the light was life. They created order in this universe through the frames of light that they danced into being. Those frames of light have begun to dissipate, to become more activated in recent years, to allow that form as light to be embodied and embraced by more human individuals to support the transcendence of the earth into light herself.

The formless lights danced and danced, and as they danced they began to aggregate after a time. That's what your bodies are. Aggregations—Coming together of light forms, light points, light aspects. These coming togethers formed a reality and emissaries came to earth to request of the earth her permission to house this free-will experiment. The lights that were embodied, that began to aggregate, descended into the conscious strata of your planet.

The memory of that journey is magnified many, many times but is understandable as your period of gestation of nine months in the womb of your biological mother. If you stretch that journey very, very far you begin to understand how far you've come, how far away, in a sense, that light became that housed your origin and how easy it was to forget that light, to foster a world where light was an idea. You had to have faith to have light. There had to be some dogma or container to put the light into, to describe it. So you have centuries and centuries of explanation about light and very little experience of light.

Shattering the Illusion that You are More Form than Light

I am here in this moment deliberately to shatter the illusion that you carry that you are more form than light. I really want to shatter that. I want to cast it to the mountains, this idea that you are separate from light, from origin, from source, from all that is. This idea that in duality there is no beingness because one must choose between right or wrong or up or down or in or out. So my idea for this evening that I have communicated to 'the one speaking' is that we sit in origin for a little while together. We carry the origin down through the dimensions into our physical bodies and we expand that energy in our bodies of light so that it opens out through all the pores of our being and fills this space in a way that actually correlates to the birth of beingness.

This will require your participation, your imagination, your intention and your knowing. The mind will shout to you all manner of things about possibilities, probabilities, maybes, maybe them, not me. Or I could get ten percent but I can't get 100 percent. What's she going to do? What am I going to have to do? You know, all those kinds of things. Breathe as the pendulum, in the front into the center and the back. Just let all the thoughts flow with the pendulum. Just allow yourself to really be here and to open that process within yourself of remembering and recognizing who you really are.

Creating a Supportive Energy Field

I had a lot of help in my lifetime as Mary Magdalene. I had infinite support from all levels, seen and unseen. I had an opportunity, in a continual manner, to be held by angels and men and women and children and animals and the sky and the earth and the mountains and the sea. We had a community so intently focused on the truth of order, light, and union that we created an environment that held all of us. Many of you remember that kind of supportive energy field, unified field, heart field—however you would remember it that did not separate under any condition.

So I would like to request that we create that kind of field this evening together, that you let your light out, that you share it. No matter what you are afraid of that you say no more. I choose the purity of my own knowing and to share that without reservation.

What is most missing on your planet at this moment is that type of community where everyone knows everyone else's pattern and design, blueprint and conscious choice, and each and every being supports that without exception. Everyone in the community knows the pathway of that soul and supports it 100%, whether they are very close to that person or not. It does not matter because we all need to do it together again.

No matter who you recognize here, no matter who you know, no matter what pathways you travel or don't, the invitation is to recognize your place in the larger field of creation. With order, light, truth and union, which are the four aspects of creation, we settle together into a momentum that we carry into the world.

Wholeness

I chose to be a healer. Many of you have also done that same choosing. It only means I choose to see the wholeness of each individual. That wholeness is actually the most important element in seeing, because all the elements that make up an individual are already unified. It is their mind that separates them from that union and it is the reflection that you give that sees that union that will bring it about.

So in each individual challenge that you might face, disagreements, misunderstandings, conflicts, whatever it might be, seeing the wholeness of the other person will resolve it instantly and that is our work, that is our job and that is our truth. We know that to be true. We can be what you would call persnickety about it, bitching in the corner, you know, not opening our heart for someone or something because of x, y, or zed. But we know better. We are coming to the end times. The end times does not mean the destruction of this planet. The end times means the coming of the light.

Would you agree? That's where we are. We are at end times now. As we come around in a while and sanctify this space and anoint your soul seed and open you to remembering and awakening who you really are in this process, it would be really helpful if the door that you open to yourself is the door to the compassion that allows you to see someone's wholeness all the time, without exception. The interesting thing I would suggest to you is that if you don't do that with someone that you go to a mirror and you say to the mirror I accept my wholeness. This is because if you are not accepting someone else's wholeness it's because you are not accepting your own. In that moment that you go to the mirror and say it's me I'm not accepting, then you free the same bond that you would free if you actually had accepted that individual and their wholeness.

I have tremendous compassion for each of you in your lives. I remember the pain and the struggle, the disavowal of many about myself, the judgment, the fear that was instilled in others and the way that escalated or magnified in their ability to see each other only as enemies. I remember living in a time like this, but you are fortunate to live in a country where it is not actually happening at this moment. I was not so fortunate and I would say to each of you whatever excuse you use for separating from another living being is no longer valid. It is no longer valid.

There is only one way forward and that is through the marriage of the heart and the soul and the commitment of each of you to live that. There will be no peace on earth until that happens and you can do all manner of things to bring about peace on the planet but if that is not your 100% commitment it will not happen. It is not a threat. It is an actuality. It is science. It is biology. It's wisdom. It's knowing. It's you know it. You know that there is no excuse anymore. By your being in that whole place yourself, with a w-h-o-l-e and having others seen as being in wholeness, then wholeness becomes the reality. It ripples out through the environment of your own soul energy and it captures people. It captures them, opens them, foundations them. It gives them the opportunity to respond to a greater part of themselves because they see the reflection of that and are able to honor its truth and able to live as if that is the only way to be.

The one Yeshua and I had many discussions of such. We wondered how long it would take, how far-reaching the story of humanity would be before the challenge caught up with the solution or the other way around, the solution caught up with the challenge, and there was a way home in the body for all beings to share their pure consciousness. So as initiates of the Emissaric Light Lineage we want to return to the origin together. I am going to ask you to put your right hand on the top of your head and your left hand on your heart. We won't make you do this for too long.

Heart Breathing

Now remember the heart introduction 'the one speaking' offered. Feel the heart opening to the light you carry so that your left hand becomes warmer, stronger and there is rhythm underneath your fingers on the heart. It's uncomfortable for you to put your hand on top of your head, just imagine doing it. That's fine.

Very simple. Now when you have a good heart field established, (and it's only by being in the heart, you don't have to think about love or try to love more or anything), just be in the heart. Breathing into the heart strong breaths. When you have that strong heart breath that is your life force right there in your heart, imagine you can lift it right up to the top of your head. Join it in your crown and explode that energy in the top of your head, opening it to all kinds of ultraviolet energy rays of the rainbow, clear silence, which is all sound. Then lift your hand as high as it will go and draw that energy up higher and higher and lighter and freer.

Then place both hands on your heart so you are more comfortable and keep your attention as far up above your head as you can with your light in it and your breath in it, just breathing in and out from that amazing space. Don't worry if you are confused, just know that it is happening. At the top with that bright light is the origin and all you want to see is light. Your light. Our lights. All light.

Together we are going to say three times I am light and light I shall remain. Okay, so let's start. I am light and light I shall remain, I am light and light I shall remain, I am light and light I shall remain.

Now just open your awareness and allow. Let it grow, expand, see whatever you see, notice what's happening.

Now let's say my origin is light. My origin is light.

Light fills all the cells of my body. Light fills all the cells of my body.

Beings of Light and the Energy of Origin

Now imagine around you all kinds of beautiful beings of light. Everywhere around all of us are these beings of light. Feel the space filling with beings of light. In front of you just your own personal being of light is now present. Invite your being of light. Remember that we have stepped outside of time and outside of our mind, so just know that whatever happens it is perfect for you and all that you need is there, will always be there no matter what you think or believe. The fact that you are light is not questionable. It is a fact and you can call on any being of light to be with you that you choose. Someone in a body, someone who is making transition, has made transition, archangels, it doesn't matter. Call them in to fill your consciousness with their light right in front of you.

Now behind you is another being of light. So you are in a little light sandwich. Feel the light filling in your back, strengthening your spine, bringing in a strong reality of peace. Dissolve into the light. Allow entry into all the spaces within yourself where you have held light away.

Now on your left side there is another being of light and on your right. Four pillars of light are surrounding you, cherishing you, supporting you and opening you to the field of your own origin as light. When you have the pillars in place breathe into each pillar and feel the vibration they offer you, which will be perfect for what it is that you request or would benefit from right now. Feel sadness being released, and any fear. Feel everything that you care about coming closer and everything that you've held onto for any other reason than to experience balance. Feel those things go. Letting go. Letting go of what you're holding onto that doesn't work and feeling light come in to replace that. Feel light honoring you and your choice. Feel your body more vitally, more alive, more conscious, more flexible, resilient and gorgeous in whatever way.

Now imagine all at one time those four lights, those star beings of consciousness that you carried with you dissolve into you. So one, two, three, let them dissolve all into you so that you embody all that light. Breathe it in. Breathe it through. Breathe it down. Breathe it out. Breathe it up, all the way around. This is the energy of origin. Feel the fullness and the rhythm of your own light now. This is who you are. It is why you came. And whether you express it in art or dance, movement, writing, poetry, making love, washing dishes, raising children, climbing mountains, working for the peace of this planet or the health of its children or the welfare of its being, this is you. It is all the same source, all the same origin. So we can all come together in a way that you've never come together before.

Right now let's imagine that now that we've integrated all four of our very special light beings, that we extend our fields out and create a container where all of us are sharing our light. Imagine wherever you are sitting that your light is expanding out. It is touching the space around you and continuing to move out. We are going to fill this whole space with the energy of origin right now, because as John Henry says, “we can.”

Feel it now. Feel it moving. Feel your light dancing, just as it was in the beginning. Feel the spark of your life lighting you up, giving you courage and confidence, creativity, congruence—all the balancing that brings the highest response to life itself. Breathe in your light, breathe out your light and let’s fill the space.

Let’s rev it up a bit. Let’s make it palpable so that your hands are vibrating with this light of origin, so that your whole body is zinging, alive and vibrating at a rate of speed that provides creation in everything you do, everywhere you go.

If you choose to you can say I am shining my light brightly and filling the space with the truth of Oneness because that’s what we’re doing. I am shining my light and filling the space with the truth of Oneness. I am shining my light and I’m filling the space with the truth of Oneness. I am shining my light to fill this space with the truth of Oneness.

The Magic of Knowing

As we sit in the space I will talk just a little more, then we will have a few moments of stretch and whatever you might need to do to be more comfortable. The idea that happens when we carry creation, carry origin as a way of being is that the world opens for us in a way it never it has before. When ‘the one speaking’ was in three years of writing I Remember Union there was what you would say, serendipity. This is the idea that the universe answered her thoughts and she answered the thoughts of the universe. The magic of knowing that one is always in the correct, right place at the correct, right time, for the correct, right reason, with the correct, right words, to the correct, right person and so forth. This idea that there is a segue, a unit of consciousness that everyone abides within together. So if we were having that experience here we would know everything about each other and love each other in a way that we have all yearned to be loved.

The serendipity, the energy of coincidence, is the energy of spontaneity, the energy of always knowing that the universe has your back. The sense of creating anything you want because anything you want is part of your conversation with the universe. And that is what this space provides you. I'm not just trying to give you a nice experience. I'm not going to waste my time just having you feel good for five minutes. Right?

Yes, it is more important and it is so important because the duality in the world as you know it has reached a fever pitch. What's happening is that the right and the wrong sides (or you could change those around and say they are the wrong and right sides, it doesn't matter), those two sides are pulling further and further apart. This is magic actually because as they pull apart the rubber band of duality will snap and when the rubber band snaps everything falls into the middle. So you are going to be in the middle waiting, broadcasting, inviting, grounding, and collaborating. Please collaborate. Get to know each other. Care about this! Create the kind of community that your heart yearns for. You can do this.

When everyone snaps into the middle it's all going to be topsy-turvy and you all know that. Topsy-turviness is coming, if you don't think it's here already. What happens when things are topsy-turvy and the rubber band breaks and everything comes apart, everybody is upside down, inside out, right? They don't know where they are, what to do, where to go, how to be.

That's when you hold the space where nothing but truth exists. You hold this space of union so if I had the right to command you, I would command you to experience this union every day, every morning before you get out of your bed. Feel your heart, feel your crown. Join them together. Lift into your transpersonal space, they call it now the star consciousness above your head. Invite one of the assembled masters or one of the saints or one of the angels or whomever you love; your father, your mother, whomever is around you who loves you dearly to be in front and behind and on each side of you. Then breathe in their love and make that light that they carry for you and for themselves and for the world and the earth, the people and all the beings, part of your own fabric, part of your own beingness.

This has really practical aspects to it. The first one is you will live longer, be happier, be healthier and have more love in your life. As your light shines people will come to you who don't remember they have a light. Your tears will flow because you realize that if you're there with them you will activate their light. You will reawaken them to that calling because you will see their wholeness and there is nothing more important. Grace will descend upon you and the one speaking could tell you times in her life when her animals have died, her parents have died, and from somewhere grace descended. That's the promise of origin, that you will stand in grace and recognize who you are and not be afraid anymore about anything because death is your friend, as is life. So actually more to the point, you are not afraid to live.

Now I am promising you a lot. I understand that and you may or may not believe that with your head. But, you know the truth of which I speak because it's the only truth that makes sense in a world where everything is upside down and topsy-turvy. Light and love is all that makes sense.

(Group Break) I will end here for a few minutes and we will have a stretch break and see what else we might need to do to create some order in the body and in the environment and then we will resume in about ten minutes.

Reconvening:

Because of the anointing it takes a little while. I don't want you to go home real late and Magdalene does have another message to send you home with, which won't be as long as the first one. The first one is exactly an hour, which is interesting. Nameh also asked if you would be willing to have a group photograph at the end. Those of you who would like to so we have the imprint of this energy and maybe we could all then maybe FaceBook or have a group or whatever you want to do, we could do something from that.

Q&A: Debbie: I have been initiated at the third eye by Lightning Self Master teacher and I wonder if there is some way that I can check in if this will complicate that or interfere with that?

That's a nice question. My understanding of the anointing is that it's respectful of all of your choice in this incarnation, like what you are choosing in the world. What it really aims to do is heighten your ability to integrate light into your being so you are more aware of it consciously. It wouldn't be an anointing that would interrupt or disrupt anything else and if you have a real concern about it, I could leave that part out and just do your soul seed. So when I get to you, you can decide.

This origin work is very interesting. This is the first time I have ever done this in a group and I had a pretty profound experience but of course I had all you in my experience, so it was really wonderful. I could imagine myself in the mornings laying there in bed and just igniting this flame in myself. It was just really amazing and I am very grateful for it and for all of you coming because it was your coming that actually supported Mary in this process. I have been in Vermont for 23 years and I hide a lot in Vermont, you know. I am a very shy person and coming out and doing this kind of work is something I have done a lot, obviously, over the last 25 years but it's not always easy for me to do it. I like to be by the woodstove knitting and stuff, but she is telling me this is the first of many and that we need to do this. This is a way to help.

Sharing from the Audience

I felt a lot of light and then the practice with beings and bringing them in—I really felt electrically and ethereally empowered by that. So it was very empowering, really helpful for me in these times because for me these times are really walking in the unknown a lot. And then, of course, there was a lot of sadness because I have some memory of the times when we were more of a tribe. We are about as far from that as we can possibly be, so I definitely felt the grief of how far we are. I felt really transported. Energetically it is that space where we were all connected.

She is saying that she can feel that transporting to a time when we were a tribe. I think we all want that. I don't think there is any question that we want that. It is really time for that too. I've always been told that you don't want something that's not in your field already. It's having it in your field that makes you want it so you recognize it so you can have it. So it's really cool. It is not a separation.

Magdalene Resumes:

As I was telling you about 'the one speaking' her time at home is limited and it is her duty, in a sense, to carry forth this message and to carry it in such a way that it sparks the reunion of all consciousness on this planet in as many ways as possible. The anointing is, in a sense, and I don't know the words so I am going to try to use your words, deputize you? But to say, oh, yes, you are part of the team. You are part of this whole thing and now we are going to do this together.

When people talk about doing things together there is always an immediate sense of, oh, I don't know if I can do it the way you do it or I don't know if I can do, you know, all those things. So what I would like to recommend, suggest and implore you about is to say, "yes." Then let the direction come from that strong flame inside you so that you are directed as to what and where and who and why and all of that from that inside space. Take your mind and throw it to the mountains and shatter it. This is because the thing that is in your mind is limitation and you cannot create the magic if the limitation is stronger than knowing. It doesn't matter how much you've done anything in this incarnation because this incarnation is a drop in the bucket. Right? It is so tiny, so short. Infinitesimal compared to all that you carry.

For us to work with the magnificence of who we are means our wholeness but it also means the complexity of all that we are. That's very important because if you work with the complexity of yourself you will find all this very beautiful richness, this cohesiveness, this aliveness, this magnificence. This is because it's in you, every single one of you and you know it. But, then somehow it doesn't manifest because the other concerns seem to be stronger, all the survival concerns. So what I want to say to you, and this is really, really important because I want you to get this. When you are concerned with your survival the capacity that we just worked with is like putting your light under the bushel basket.

This little light of mine, I'm going to let it shine. (in song) This whole idea means that the light is your ticket home. It's your ticket to doing everything that you want to do. So the creative energy is in the light. It is not in the dark, survival, or money issues.

I understand that those issues are real to the concern of the mind, perhaps the emotion, and of course the body, obviously. However, for the money to come, the resources to come, the partners to come, the energies to come, all the things to manifest, if you are in a survival mode, nobody is going to find you. The universe is not going to support that energy because it isn't a universal energy. It's not because you are doing it wrong. It is because the vibration is not compatible.

What you would like to do actually is spend as much time as you can in that original cocoon of the origin. This is where I am light. This is where I create worlds. This is where love is, always. It is unconditional. Origin doesn't care what my hair looks like or how much money I have, or if one foot is bigger than the other one or I need braces, it doesn't care.

It's the original matrix of your divinity and if you're not there all the time it's why you're not there all the time. It's why your world is not showing up as you usually or deeply or responsibly or responsively or yearningly or longingly want it to be. So the message is simple. When we come around to touch your soul seed and your third eye, all we're saying is you are divine. It's your turn. We want deeply to magnify all that you are. We see you as a whole being and we are in this together.

There is no separation. It's not you and me and us and them. It's everyone together. So what you will recognize as an origin place mark or signpost is that when you are in origin there is no other. And the amazing experience of Oneness is the only valid experience that you have. There is no other. That's why I said when you are unable to forgive someone or see them as whole or you have anger about something or whatever, go look at your own face because that's where the key is. That's where the answer lies.

I would like to pledge to go home with you, to walk with you, to help create union in your environment, to touch into all that is with you, to be available for whatever you would request of me, actually. Confidence, courage, fearlessness, presence, compassion, kindness, forgiveness, it doesn't matter what it is. Love. The idea of being light is that you don't have any limits and there is no time and you can go anywhere you want, so you can do that, too. You can go anywhere you want as a light being, sending your light wherever you want it. There is no limit here.

Now I will say this. If you don't do it every day it will get less intense and be less available and be harder to respond to. If you don't do it every day then there will be gaps in your reception because reception depends upon balance, the fact that giving and receiving is actually the same thing. You do know that, right? Giving and receiving is the same because no one gives only from themselves. You each have immense support in everything that you do. You do not do anything by yourself. You can't take credit for anything actually. Right? Because you have all had so much support or you wouldn't be where you are, but you may not recognize it and that's another thing.

The idea here is that you want to keep the support constant. You want to keep the focus constant and you want to always be in origin because origin is recognizable. When you are in origin your love pours out, your energy pours out and people can't wait to be with you. They can't wait to come and touch you. It's Christ energy. It is Mother Mary energy or Buddha energy or any energy you want to know that is present, that's fully present because it is the beginning-less beginning. Everyone recognizes it, everyone belongs to it and everyone came forth from it.

So stick together. Create this field. Get to know each other. Have an origin breakfast. Have an origin consciousness-raising potluck supper or raise money for something that you all care about in your town or whatever. Be active in a spiritual way with those who have heard this message and discover each other in ways that you have never discovered each other before. Hold the space for each other as if each and every one of you is the most sacred, divine and loving being that you know. Love without condition. That's really the answer to all of this.

Let's hold our hands on our heart again. Our right hands on the heart, left hands on the right. Just for a moment let's feel how the space of our own heart provides a deeper and deeper experience for our life on earth together.

Thank you. Thank you. Thank you.

When we come around to do your anointing hold the intention within yourself for whatever you would like to have your relationship be with me, the aspect of Magdalene called Mary, and/or the one speaking and/or each other and/or the world or anyone or anything within the world. Hold an intention for how you want to bring origin into this time and place for the highest good of all concerned. Let's walk this into the world in union together.

And so it is.
