

Mary Magdalene Speaks On The Importance of the Heartwomb
Channeled By
Flo Aeveia Magdalena
Laguna Nigel, California January 30, 2011

We are going to do a Heartwomb meditation, so you want to have some support, or however you like to meditate—if you like to lie down, if you like to sit up, get in that position. It is going to be a channeling, but also a meditation to take you into the Heartwomb.

To bring the ancient technology, and the new technology, and the technology of Oneness, which is all of it together, and to open to the discoveries of the awarenesses of those who are walking this pathway, and including those in this process, we will open to see how Magdalene can assist us to understand the Heartwomb and bring it into our experience. Kind of settle it in. Maybe. (Laughter)

Right now she is creating some scaffolding, and so you might just breathe, and be aware of what is changing in the environment. She is creating the structure of the new Ark of the Covenant, if I am reading that correctly, a Chamber of all sounds, all silence, all awareness, all time, and all space, so that the container that we have in this experience is complete.

~~~~~

I am here with you to recognize together the clarity of our soul's intention to bring light, as emissaries, into this place of earth. I am not separate from you. I am not away from you. I am within you, and within us is the clarity of all time to move the piece of the heart into present experience. I choose to be here with you, because your hearts have indicated to me that the spaces that you carry in all worlds are ready to be born in this world.

When the one Stacy was speaking about the power of love and the power of the connection of the Oneness principle, I was applauding her courage, her stamina, and her commitment, but also the quality of light that she carries.

The important thing, as I am experiencing it with you, in this time, in this group, in this place, is that you recognize, each of you, that the womb of the heart, the womb of your heart, and womb of each other's heart is the same container. It is the same movement. It is the same clarification. It is not different. There is no difference between your heart, and another's heart, and the heart of the earth, and the heart of the universe. It is differentiating your heart and believing that your heart needs something in and of itself that is the separation. Is that clear for you?

It is my intention that today and this morning we express the unification of the heart, so that we do not need to separate to acknowledge it. Do you understand that? Do you understand it?

Group responds Yes.

Do you understand that you separate in order to acknowledge your hearts? And so when you decide that you do not any longer want to separate to acknowledge your heart, you will acknowledge your heart, because it is there to acknowledge. And then it becomes a way of being for you in your choice, and in your awareness, and in your action.

So the first thing that we do is create a very strong template that has all time in it and all wisdom so that you can access anything that you want within that template. This is so that as you move forward today, whatever you need is wherever it is, and it is part of you, and you are not separate from it.

Carrying awareness of the Heartwomb means there is a transfusion that is happening all the time with where you are, what you need, what you are sourced from, and what you agreed to complete; what you agreed to act on, manifest, unify, collate, and cooperatively build in this world. It is very important that you understand this, or the technology is the technology, and it does not serve anything. It only serves it if there are not moments when it is not enough. So I want you to synch that in a bit. Understand that. There is no story in here, but there are all stories. Chuckle. There is no time, but all time. There is no sound, but all sound.

I have been, in my many incarnations, a carrier of the sword in the female body, and I have been held in esteem by great men and great women only because I have the courage to speak the truth of both worlds and all worlds simultaneously. It is the only reason that I am held in high esteem, because separating the wheat from the chaff is my business. If the heart and the soul seed are unified in the container of the truth, the world changes; so in this moment, the world is changing. Right now. Not just for you, for everything. And it is the everything that makes the difference. It is the synthesis of all that is available that exemplifies the power through which we manifest the new world.

I am not hesitant to be here, to speak these words to you, because I understand that you are on the edge of joining the heart and the soul in a new way that does not need the container of the story to validate it or call it forth. So I am asking you to dissolve your story as we spin the womb together. Dissolve the stuff of the fiber of your egoic texture, and weave the particles of your consciousness into a strong enough Heartwomb space that you do not need to return again to that which does not work for you, has not supported you, and does not understand you. That would absolutely be insanity.

And so I have my sword out to cut those ties that you carry to transform, but on the other edge of the blade of that sword is the truth to empower you to live it fully, because you know what it is. And many of you claim not to know what it is, for whatever reason. It does not make any sense, but... Group chuckles).

As you recognize that this is the end of the road, this is the end of the road, what happens at the end of the road? There is a cul-de-sac, right? You get to the end of the road, and then you spread out and make a circle. You decide whether you are going to go back the way you came, or whether you are going to ground that womb container into the earth and into the heavens, and become one with the Heartwomb above and below simultaneously.

So that is our objective for coming here in these numbers, in this space, in this particular physical home, at this particular time, in this particular context. So we are in the cul-de-sac. We are still trying to find our place in the cul-de-sac (Laugh). And that is okay, but we do not need to do it anymore.

The death of the ego is not the death of the self. The death of the ego is union with the divine. So just acknowledge that you can lie down, or open up, or ground through your soul, or your spine, or your coccyx, or your whatever, your whatever. It does not matter; your position, your ideation, anything, and you can just let it happen, and let it be there. Nothing else is necessary.

I would recommend that you feel the technology of the Ark of the Covenant around you right now in this room. The structures, the templates, consciousness, the awareness, the depth, whatever you need for support is right here. There is no place you need to go for it, and there is nothing anybody has to do for you to feel it. Do not give away your power. Your own Heartwomb is your answer and your own soul seed is your answer. That is your technology, right there. And, because it is meditated through the heart it serves all generations and will create your new world in ways that will support you financially, emotionally, mentally, spiritually, and physically.

I would just say the time is at hand. Choose it.

The ancient work that we do here brings us to the origin of humanity. It is the most important work on the planet, because if we do not come back to the origin of humanity and enfold it in the batter of the brownies, (group laughter), and bring it into the present moment, we truncate our power as human beings, as divine beings. The male and female do not relate to each other, because the origin is feminine. It is light and substance, and that is that container that transfuses the body with light. This is one way of doing that.

It is important to contain consciousness in a container like this so that it can be felt, and then you take the containers out and they build and they grow, and transform. They are expanding into the world, and then the world expands into the container and becomes the container, and that is what you are all yearning for. And your container is first. Build your container. Make it strong. Call in the four directions; have them meet in the center of your sacred space.

Recognize you have everything you need within you. Nobody needs to do anything for you to be whole. Do not give your power away. Be in the space with each other. Share it. Commune with it. Experience it, but do not depend on each other for it. Do you feel that difference?

Group responds yes.

So therefore, there are no conditions on your experiencing it. That is extremely important. If you place a condition on experiencing it, you do not understand it. Does that make sense to you?

Group responds yes.

Alright then. I am going to just weave my essence a little bit into the room more. There are certain places it does not seem to have set, so I am going to weave it. If you would weave together, also, your container more strongly, please. Send your soul seed energy around to the room, into each other. Let's make it very strong. Imagine that we are in a stadium and there are thousands of people, and we are weaving it between them, as well, because there is no time and space. Imagine that this whole county, this whole state, this whole nation, this whole continent, everything is all together, moving through the oceans. Everything is connected throughout the earth, and the world, and all the people, because we can do this.

We establish that there is no separation, and that is the truth. It is only our perception that separates.

Can you all feel the difference? Group responds affirmative. So we are ready to begin.

The idea that I am bringing forth is that the soul seed is the anchor point for the Heartwomb. So you first have to anchor your soul seed, or you have no place to seat your Heartwomb. Do you understand that? It is the base. It is as if you have a spinning top. You have to have the point of the bottom of the top actually weighted properly so that it will spin, and so you have something to spin on. So you are spinning on your soul seed.

When you go into your soul seed first and expand it, then you have a foundation for that experience. So let's do that first; however you want to do that. Using your fingers as sensors go into the soul seed, (located in the point where your ribs come together in the center of the body, called the xiphoid process), and imagine that when you open the soul seed today, you can sit in there. There is a container there, a crystal cave, or some beautiful space, cathedral, or something that you feel comfortable in and sit in there. As you sit down in that space, you anchor your soul seed.

Now we are going to take breaths down into that soul seed, breathing down into the heart. Imagine that you are dropping right into the soul seed from the top, just watching that experience. It is as if you can be in two places at once. You can move your breath in and out. You are dropping into the soul seed from the top, from the heart. You are dropping into the heart, letting go, like you are going down into a chasm, and then you are going deep, deep, deep into your soul seed.

You are going to breathe nice deep breaths; as much air as you can bring in, and then exhale. You are opening the sides of the container of the heart so that as you exhale you are actually moving the heart container bigger. See the heart container as a circle, and as you breathe now we are going to spin clockwise inside the circle. So you are going to breathe down in and spin; with the bottom being the soul seed, just like a top, moving around, and every time you breathe in, you are aware more of what is spinning—the sensation of the grace that is available from the heart to bring you and all human beings, all living beings, all time and space into that space of the Heartwomb. It is the rose-colored, beautiful heart space, expanding with the breath of life. Resting. Expanding. Deepening, every breath deepening your connection into your body. Deep spinning happening in the center of your chest, expanding that out with each breath.

One by one now bring in the people that you love to spin with you in the Heartwomb. Fill up your heart with the ones you know are ready and love, from your families, from your relationships. Tighten the weave as you bring individuals in. Understand how the strands of their hearts are woven with yours already. Bring that level of conscious awareness into your heart and spin with each individual. Let them come in naturally, float in, and be included. Feel the spiral of energy extending and expanding out now to all those in this room, consciously weaving everyone together in the container of your heart.

Feel how the bigger your heart gets, the more connected things are, people are, animals are, inside your heart—the more room there is. The more that are there, the more room there is. Make sure to bring in the individuals that you have some energy learning to do with, the balancing that is necessary, the agreements that you contracted with individuals, bring all those individuals in, as well now; anyone that you feel uncomfortable with or who feels uncomfortable with you, bring them into your heart now.

Take a nice deep breath now, and see your child in the center of your heart, and weave all of your childhood awarenesses that you remember into your Heartwomb right now.

Let your Heartwomb activate the codes of your wisdom and understanding, your learnings, and the contracts you've made with others. Let all of that resolve now inside your Heartwomb, through every single one of your memories that come to you now to be resolved—past, present, or future lives, right now. Right now.

Spin it further and faster if it gets heavier, or if the movement does not seem easy, just spin it a little faster so that everything gets incorporated, not processed; just incorporated, just understood from the place of absolute knowing, now. Instant absolution. Fly a color of light through your heart—rose, purple, ultraviolet, whatever color comes to you. Fly that to the external part of your heart, and melt it into the weave, the blend of all those aspects into one conscious thread of understanding.

Feel yourself held in this large container. Feel your heart transfusing anything left, any residue of what you no longer serve, stand for, or will accept. Dissolve it now because you can. Just dissolve.

Feel peace now descending into your heart from above, from each side, from the back, from the front, from underneath you. Peace is coming from every direction into your heart. You send that out on that wave of the Heartwomb in a clockwise direction moving from left to right, sending out your individual gift, the consciousness of the Oneness, the vibration of the Heartwomb, the structure of the Ark of the Covenant, the consciousness of the absolute, and the union of the male and the female. Send out the Monad and the Sophia, vibrating with her conscious awareness and truth. We stand as representatives of the earth and carry the consciousness of her body in this time as one with the divine, with our Heartwomb and with each other.

From this moment forward we walk together in the same frequency and vibration. Understanding between each of us will be absolute, clear, direct, conscious, free, and deeply relevant to the world. The perfect blend of the masculine and feminine is woven in the Heartwomb. To support your integration, moving into that space is all that is needed.

As you close your eyes be aware of that experience of the light, the formations, the movement, right before your eyes; right before your 3rd eye. See the movement with your eyes closed, of the divine energy balancing in your being. Be aware again of your soul seed now, how firmly it is anchored in your body and awareness, how much stronger it is, how much more potent it is for you. Go now and walk this into the world, for it is your destiny, as it is mine.

It is with gratitude and the enduring heart that I pledge my support and presence for each of you from this moment forward in whatever way I might serve you. And I say this in the knowing that the new world has begun. So it is.

Our tendency might be to take this meditation, and then get up and do things in a normal way. What I would recommend is that we get up and move in the new way, and all the tasks, and relationships, and experiences that we have we do in this new way. We practice that today and every day so that we set this into our daily experience, into our body rhythms, and to the experience of being in community, and just see how that feels to rest in the same place, originate from the same place, and act as that one organism so that we can work in that space in that way.