

Soul Recognition - An Invitation

We know we have a soul, but most of us do not feel its vital presence in our daily lives. Only occasionally do we have a glimpse of the part of us that endures, that is eternally strong, that brings us wisdom and knowledge from all time.

Soul Recognition is a profound way to acknowledge your soul, the part of you that is immortal, and endures without separation, judgment, or fear. In the Soul Recognition process, you establish a deep connection, through your soul, with the essence of who you are. As the vital link with your soul is established, you begin freely expressing and creating from this essential place of strength within you - the place that yearns to be fully alive.

The process of soul birthing, or recognition, has happened for a long time, but usually outside of conventional life. Souls were often birthed in caves and hidden places, usually by women. Soul Recognition is a ritual of initiation and remembering.

When our soul is heard, we can direct our life and relationships from the powerful place of life within us, responding from knowing, trusting, and sensing, instead of from the beliefs and conditioning of a reactive world.

This is a natural and very beautiful process because your soul knows how to open. Four or more facilitators are there with you to support this unfolding and to hold the space for your honoring and will be weaving a field of union to enfold you during your soul journey. Through the light of your soul a path is created, one that the mind alone could never find.

We need bridges, individually and collectively, to build new ways to live and to see each other and the world, and to express from our soul space. Soul Recognition is such a bridge. In a safe place, your soul's plan for your life is anchored into your conscious and unconscious levels, to help you identify and implement your soul's unique design.

Living from the soul is a choice that brings the innate power of creation, knowing, and joy, into every aspect of your life.

The facilitators who participate in this work have made a commitment to birth this way of connection onto the planet. We have seen lasting and beneficial changes form this work and feel that soul recognition and acknowledgement is a vital next step for humanity. Directing one's life from the soul brings balance and harmony within and links the consciousness of many people at one time, creating a critical mass which weaves a field of union.

Thank you for your interest in living and experiencing your soul.

The Staff of Soul Support Systems